

Another prediction comes true!

Post Reply Post Reply Page

3

<12345 7>

Author Message Topic Rating Rate Topic Topic Search Topic Search Topic Options
Topic Options

Whisper View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Male

Joined: 25 July 2004

Location: United Kingdom

Status: Offline

Points: 4752 Post Options Post Options

Thanks (0) Thanks(0) Quote Whisper Quote Post Reply Reply Direct Link To This Post
Posted: 23 July 2007 at 1:11pm

Your response is not worth even copying in my post, but thanks a million for exposing yourself further, with your convoluted "logic" and smart ass emoticons.

Back to Top

Sponsored Links

Back to Top

Duende View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Joined: 27 July 2005

Status: Offline

Points: 651 Post Options Post Options

Thanks \(0\) Thanks\(0\) Quote Duende Quote Post Reply Reply Direct Link To This Post

Posted: 23 July 2007 at 10:50pm

Don't be so harsh on him Whisper. I have for some time been aware his consistent belief in himself and his delusions is a sign of something seriously wrong.

Here's something I picked up from the Royal College of Psychiatrists:

(Sawtul, I mean no offence, I am seriously concerned about you)

-Introduction

The term 'psychosis' is used to describe when a person loses touch with reality. Teenagers often worry that they may be 'going mad' when they are feeling stressed, confused or very upset. In fact, feelings like these are very rarely a sign of mental illness. They can often get a lot better if you talk them through with someone you trust.

'Psychosis' is much more serious and affects people of all ages, but becomes increasingly common as you reach young adulthood.

When a young person has a 'psychotic breakdown', not due to drug use, it can be difficult to know what the long-term effects will be, and a definite diagnosis may not be possible.

Delusions are unshakeable beliefs that are obviously untrue. For example, an ill person might strongly believe that there is a plot to harm them - that they are being spied on through the TV or being taken over by aliens.

Thought disorder is when someone is not thinking straight and it is hard to make sense of what they are saying. Their ideas may be jumbled up, but it is more than being muddled or confused.

Back to Top

Whisper View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Male

Joined: 25 July 2004

Location: United Kingdom

Status: Offline

Points: 4752 Post Options Post Options

Thanks (0) Thanks(0) Quote Whisper Quote Post ReplyReplyDirect Link To This Post
Posted: 24 July 2007 at 12:16am

Don't be so harsh on him Whisper. I have for some time been aware his consistent belief in himself and his delusions is a sign of something seriously wrong.

Duende, I promise, upon my scouts honour, I am being exceptionally kind with him. Otherwise, in such interesting times, we hang enemy agents, by the nearest vacant lamp post in the bazaar.

And, despite all the emoticons they flash at us.

Back to Top

Whisper View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Male

Joined: 25 July 2004

Location: United Kingdom

Status: Offline

Points: 4752      Post Options Post Options

Thanks (0) Thanks(0)   Quote Whisper Quote Post ReplyReplyDirect Link To This Post

Posted: 24 July 2007 at 2:14am

Sorry! Forgot about his ailment.

Had he been some European, the NHS (or it's equivalent across the EEC) would have taken care of him for FREE. But, in his USA, we have to find some loan shark, just to get a pobre diento (a poor tooth) extracted. Wonder what we have to sell for just a few minutes in a shrink's couch?

I don't think he is getting much for his soul, the poor chap is no Scooter Libby.

Back to Top

nu001 View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Avatar

Male

Joined: 02 March 2007

Status: Offline

Points: 252      Post Options Post Options

Thanks (0) Thanks(0)   Quote nu001 Quote Post ReplyReplyDirect Link To This Post

Posted: 25 July 2007 at 12:17am

Originally posted by Jasonchristian Jasonchristian wrote:

The Iranian Shi'ites will one day kick Sunni butt.

That's it; that's what my friend Swatul wants to hear and encourage, through his relentless efforts.

Friendship of the sunni states with US and israel doesnt bother him, it's only iran who he finds fault with, because they are the only one who has not submitted yet to USA and Israeli interests.

Infact it's the US propaganda machines who should be doing this job instead of Swatul.

Look at the people who are comming to his assistance with pleasure !!

Edited by nu001

"Al-Quran-The only Straight path to success. Alhamdulillah"

Back to Top

Sign\*Reader View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Avatar

Joined: 02 November 2005

Status: Offline

Points: 3352 Post Options Post Options

Thanks (0) Thanks(0) Quote Sign\*Reader Quote Post Reply Reply Direct Link To This Post Posted: 25 July 2007 at 12:37am

Duende/Sasha

I think you need to cut some slack to Sawtul. His reading was on something which defied normal logic but you know the nations politics is a dirty game. You might wonder why? It is a shell game at long last cuz the stakes are too high under Baghdad with the largest reserve to be tapped, it is last big prize!

I watched inside story on Aljazeera this afternoon with a three way discussion amongst an Iranian prof, an American academic and an Iraqi journalist Maki Azzal. What Iraqi journalist stated that blew me away and got me thinking about what Sawtul had been saying for longest time on IC.

What Maki Azzal was saying that there is duplicity in Iranian American relationship. What is on surface doesn't tell the whole story. They have cooperated at some places like the Afghanistan and fight against the Sunnis in Iraq ( Iranian academic agreed) and conflicted in Iraqi control modalities. Now their Ambassadors are talking openly in Baghdad.

I think this show basically has pretty much confirmed Sawtul's thinking so let's give him the mike and hear him out.

Edited by Sign*Reader

Kismet Domino:

Faith/Courage/Liberty/Abundance/Selfishness/Immorality/Apathy/Bondage or extinction.

Back to Top

Duende View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Joined: 27 July 2005

Status: Offline

Points: 651 Post Options Post Options

Thanks \(0\) Thanks\(0\) Quote Duende Quote Post ReplyReplyDirect Link To This Post

Posted: 25 July 2007 at 2:39am

Signreader I am ready to accept stranger things have come true when it comes to politics between the US and Iran and indeed, anywhere else in the world.

However, Sawtul's utter conviction that he is SO right, simply defies normalcy and is being fed by something much darker than pure political intuition. If he were commenting on purely international political strategy, and claiming to 'see beyond', that's fine, it's what all political commentators and analysts do. But Sawtul is neither a political commentator nor analyst and an amateur (as are we all) commentator, he is clearly an agitator, aiming to maintain friction between Sunni and Shi'a and this feeds into USA propaganda which we all resent.

Starting from his premise (all Shi'a are untrustworthy, twisted, hypocrites and worse) it is easy to confirm his analyses and predictions of Iranian duplicity. Can any of us name one country, nation state which is not guilty of duplicity? Just as the 'Palestine debate' starts from the premise that all Jews (even those who are not Israelis) are evil, twisted Arabophiles and enemies of Islam, per se, which makes the condemnation of the entire state of Israel inevitable and adds the stinger of pan-anti-semitism, so Sawtul's position on Shi'a/Sunni relations leads inevitably to his counter-current predictions and affirmations.

Why is he so intent on proving himself right? Why is this not simply another comment, but a personal statement of clear cut superiority due to his unusual foresight? What does he gain from asserting himself as the sole member of the forum who sees such underhand secret collusion between Iran and the US? It appears to be nothing more than agitprop aimed at division and breeding contempt and suspicion when presented as such irrefutable individual clairvoyancy

Back to Top

Whisper View Drop Down

Senior Member

Senior Member

Male

Joined: 25 July 2004

Location: United Kingdom

Status: Offline

Points: 4752      Post Options Post Options

Thanks \(0\) Thanks\(0\) Quote Whisper Quote Post Reply Reply Direct Link To This Post

Posted: 25 July 2007 at 2:55am

Brother, I agree with you in toto. Nation states do not follow just the one pattern, their policies cover issues of interests.

Yes, but I have grwon to trust my gut more than anything else in this world. You have that fragrance, it flows with sencerity. I am no fan of the Iranians. This man stank with his maiden post on this forum.

Please just trust the deep old voice from the lost centuries. I know what he is.

What is said is important, but who is saying it is also very important.